

BRIOTECH[®]

TOPICAL SKIN SPRAY

BRIOTECH Topical Skin Spray is a versatile, all-natural, and highly-effective electrically charged signaling solution that mimics the essence of human healing, as based on the science of Hypochlorous Acid (HOCl) – an organic and naturally-occurring product of our internal defense system. This alcohol-free and preservative-free topical skin and facial spray is a perfect cosmetic solution to soothe and support your skin's natural defenses against irritation, inflammation, and post-procedure sensitivities.

- A versatile addition to your daily cosmetic skin care regimen, offering pure complexion protection.
- An all-natural, electrically charged signaling solution that works to support your skin against a myriad of skin conditions.
- Hypo-allergenic, non-irritating, does not clog pores. Good for wherever you have skin.
- Free of alcohol, oil, fragrance, parabens, sulfates and other preservatives.

Our formulations are simple, natural, vegan, and yield excellent results.

WHAT IS HOCL?

As an element of human healing, HOCl is an important component of our internal defense system, produced in small amounts inside our bodies during the process of phagocytosis. It works as a highly-active, natural oxidative product to defend our bodies against bacteria and viruses by fighting infection and reducing inflammation. When produced outside the body, HOCl offers these same benefits.

HOW DOES BRIOTECH MAKE HOCL?

Eight years of on-going scientific research by our team of Board Certified Doctors of medicine, microbiology, and chemical science has resulted in several proprietary breakthroughs in purity of product, stability, and thermal tolerances. This revolutionary signaling solution, tested by The National Institutes of Health, works in a superior, safe and effective manner as a completely natural complement to your body's own healing. It is produced through trade secret and patent pending processes in brute force electrolysis, using only pure salts and pure water.

HOW DO I USE HOCL?

As a wonderful addition to your daily skin care regimen, our customers report excellent cosmetic results with acne, sun care, as a gentle exfoliant, a wrinkle remedy via fine line and scar reduction, and as a refreshing, hydrating mist. It is safe to use repeatedly throughout the day for all your topical applications, is good for wherever you have skin, and is proudly made in the USA.
